THE BELFAST HARP SOCIETY – AN EIGHTEENTH CENTURY EXAMPLE OF ENGAGED PHILANTHROPY

Being blind in the early 1800s in Ireland was an extreme challenge. To address the situation, the Belfast Harp Society was set up in 1808 to provide tuition to blind children so that they could earn a living as musicians. The Linen Hall Library subscribed to and supported this society school. The original Harp Society minutes’ book and other associated items are included in this display. This is a free event and all welcome, library opening hours apply.

Venue: Linenhall Library, 17 Donegall Square North, Belfast
